Gwynn-Bacon-Durkee House
(Bacon House)
1741 Matthews Road
Monkton vicinity

This large 2 1/2-story stone house is 32 x 46 feet, five bays wide, and was built in two installments. The house was apparently part of the William Gwynn house of the 1798 tax list, and was probably much older than that. William Gwynn owned Monkton Mills which was located on the main Gunpowder falls on a lot to the west. Milling had gone on here since at least 1743. The dwelling was also called the Bridge House for its proximity to the Monkton Road span that was damaged in the flood of 1972 and later replaced. The owner was listed in 1980 as Frank H. Durkee.
